Allona / in-house production / contractor	Meta Reels, Stories, Feed video	NC GC #107724

Six standalone video ad scripts — three written for the NC Wholesaler audience, three for the Investor audience. Each script includes hook, scene-by-scene VO + visual + on-screen text directions, and closing CTA. Designed for Meta Reels / Stories / Feed video. Mix and test which angle converts.

Tone across all scripts — plain-spoken, real, no hype. Specific dollar numbers. Wholesaler/investor vernacular ('napkin number,' 'at the table,' 'the buyer chopped me'). Avoid: hype words, income guarantees, 'luxury' framing, generic platitudes.

Compliance — NC GC License #107724 must appear in the final 5 seconds of every ad, either as a persistent footer or end card. Non-negotiable.

WHOLESALE SCRIPTS

3 angles — Three Avatars / The Sharpie / The Confession

WHOLESALE SCRIPT #1 — Three Wholesalers, One Deal

45 seconds · 3-avatar narrative arc · Reels / Stories / Feed video

Hook angle: Three avatars get three different paydays on the same property. Loss → frustration → triumph progression.

[0:00 – 0:03] HOOK

VISUAL — Tight top-down shot of three documents on a worn closing table: a coffee-stained napkin with scribbled numbers, a stapled DIY spreadsheet, and a sealed cream folder with an orange 'Licensed NC GC #107724' embossed seal.

VO — “Three NC wholesalers found the same deal. The buyer paid them three different checks.”

ON-SCREEN — Same property. Same buyer pool. Three paydays.

SFX — Subtle paper rustle. Low ambient office room tone.

[0:03 – 0:14] AVATAR 1 — THE GUESS

VISUAL — Mid-shot, anxious wholesaler at a closing table. Investor across from him taps the scribbled napkin with the back of a pen. Wholesaler's eyes drop. Cut to close-up of the napkin — original $35K rehab number scratched out in red, $50K written above, then $55K, then $60K.

VO — “The first guy found the right deal. He just wasn't sure what the rehab actually cost. So he guessed. The buyer walked it. Opened a panel. The number kept going down.”

ON-SCREEN — THE GUESS — Napkin rehab estimate → $8,000

[0:14 – 0:26] AVATAR 2 — THE ESTIMATE

VISUAL — Different wholesaler at the table. Slides a printed spreadsheet across. Investor flips to page two, points at a line, shakes head. She pushes back — but her finger hovers, then drops.

VO — “Number two did her homework. Pulled real comps. Built a real budget. But she's not a contractor — so when the buyer asked about the panel, the foundation, the roof line? She didn't have an answer.”

ON-SCREEN — THE ESTIMATE — DIY rehab budget → $15,000

[0:26 – 0:38] AVATAR 3 — THE STANDARD

VISUAL — Third wholesaler slides a clean cream folder labeled 'DEAL PACK — GC-VERIFIED' with the orange license seal. Buyer opens it — stamped pages, itemized scope, signature blocks. Buyer's pen hovers, then signs. No edits. No back-and-forth.

VO — "Number three didn't guess. She had a licensed NC general contractor walk the property, write the rehab number, and stamp it. Itemized. Sworn. Backed. Buyer signed without changing a number. Forty grand. Same property the first guy walked away from with eight."

ON-SCREEN — THE STANDARD — GC-Verified Deal Pack → $40,000

Closing CTA

Visual: clean playbook PDF cover slides in. VO: "Same deal. Same buyer pool. Different check. Want what number three had? Free playbook. NC wholesalers only."

WHOLESALE SCRIPT #2 — The Sharpie

30 seconds · pain hook + single solution · Reels-tight

Hook angle: Visceral pain-first: the buyer literally crossing out your number. Single emotional villain (the sharpie).

[0:00 – 0:03] HOOK

VISUAL — Extreme close-up of a buyer's hand holding a red Sharpie, hovering over a rehab budget number on a printed page. The cap pops off. The pen comes down.

VO — “If you don't write your rehab number, the buyer will.”

ON-SCREEN — Stop letting buyers cut your assignment.

SFX — Sharp click of pen cap. Pen on paper scratch.

[0:03 – 0:13] THE PAIN

VISUAL — Wholesaler watches buyer cross out numbers, getting smaller and smaller. Reaction shots of disappointment. Cuts of red ink, slashed totals.

VO — “You found the deal. You did the comps. You walked it twice. And the buyer still pulled out a Sharpie at the closing table and chopped your assignment by 60%.”

ON-SCREEN — $32K leaves the closing table every week.

[0:13 – 0:22] THE FIX

VISUAL — Same wholesaler now slides a sealed cream GC-verified folder across. Buyer reads it, nods, signs. No Sharpie this time.

VO — “The wholesalers closing at the top aren't smarter. They aren't finding better deals. They just bring a licensed NC GC to write the number.”

ON-SCREEN — GC-Verified Deal Pack. Buyer can't argue.

Closing CTA

Visual: playbook slides into frame. VO: “Free playbook. Same property. Different paycheck. NC wholesalers only.”

WHOLESALE SCRIPT #3 — The Confession

60 seconds · direct-to-camera testimonial · Feed video

Hook angle: Talking head, no narrator. A real wholesaler tells the story of their own $30K mistake and what fixed it. Highest trust, slowest start.

[0:00 – 0:05] HOOK — DIRECT TO CAMERA

VISUAL — A real wholesaler sitting at a coffee shop or kitchen table, talking directly to camera. Loose, real, like a friend telling you something across a Buffalo Wild Wings booth.

VO — “Real talk — I lost $35,000 last quarter because I guessed the rehab. Want to know how I fixed it?”

ON-SCREEN — Real NC wholesaler. Real numbers.

[0:05 – 0:25] THE STORY

VISUAL — B-roll of a property walk-through. Wholesaler at the table, frustrated body language. Cut back to coffee shop occasionally.

VO — “I had a Charlotte property under contract — solid deal. Did my comps, did the math, $45K rehab. Brought it to a buyer. He walked it once, started pointing at stuff I'd never looked at — the panel, the foundation, the roof tie-ins. By the time we got to the table he had me at $5K instead of $25K. That happened three times before I figured out the problem wasn't me. It wasn't the deals.”

ON-SCREEN — Same buyer pool. Same mistake. Three times.

[0:25 – 0:45] THE REALIZATION

VISUAL — Wholesaler back at coffee shop, leaning forward, more energy now.

VO — “The problem was: I wasn't speaking the buyer's language. Cash buyers know what a real rehab costs because they've done a hundred. I'd done six. They were always going to win that argument. Until I stopped having the argument. I bring a licensed NC GC to walk every property before I list now. He writes the number. He stamps it. The buyer can either argue with him or sign the check.”

[0:45 – 0:55] THE RESULT

VISUAL — Closing check on screen, signed for $38,000. Then $32K. Then $42K — three real check amounts shown.

VO — “Last three assignments: $32K, $38K, $42K. Same buyer pool. Same kind of deals. Different number on the check.”

ON-SCREEN — $32K · $38K · $42K — three closings, three top-of-range assignments.

Closing CTA

Visual: playbook slides in. Wholesaler back to camera. VO: “Southern Cities put together a free playbook. Worth a read if you're tired of getting chopped.”

INVESTOR SCRIPTS

3 angles — First Flip Anxiety / Three Investors Same Year / Stop Being Your Own GC

INVESTOR SCRIPT #1 — First Flip Anxiety

45 seconds · problem → fix arc · Reels / Stories / Feed video

Hook angle: Direct to the new investor who's about to overpay because they don't know what they don't know.

[0:00 – 0:04] HOOK

VISUAL — A new investor walking through a property with a notepad. Looking up at the ceiling. Looking at the walls. Hesitant. Bites lip.

VO — “Most first-time investors don't lose money on the deal. They lose it on the rehab.”

ON-SCREEN — FOR NC INVESTORS · BEFORE YOU CLOSE

SFX — Quiet creaking floorboards. Distant traffic.

[0:04 – 0:18] THE FEAR

VISUAL — Investor staring at a quote from a contractor — confused expression. Cut to arguing with a contractor on a job site. Cut to change orders piling up on a desk.

VO — “You don't know what you don't know. The contractor says $45K — is that real? Is the foundation actually OK? Will the city flag your permit because the panel needs upgrading? By the time you find out, you've wired the down payment, signed the loan, and started bleeding.”

ON-SCREEN — The rehab number is what determines whether the deal works.

[0:18 – 0:32] THE FIX

VISUAL — Licensed GC walks the property with the investor, pointing things out, taking notes on a tablet. Then hands him a bound report with the SCC orange seal.

VO — “Get the rehab number BEFORE you close. A licensed NC general contractor walks the property, scopes every system, gives you a sworn budget range, and flags every risk. Now you're not guessing. You're underwriting.”

ON-SCREEN — Pre-Deal GC Review — written by a licensed NC GC.

Closing CTA

Visual: confident investor at closing with binder in hand, signing. VO: “Know what the rehab actually costs before you close. Free playbook to start. Pre-deal review available statewide.”

INVESTOR SCRIPT #2 — Three Investors, Same Year

60 seconds · 3-investor comparison · Feed / Reels video

Hook angle: Same starting capital, three execution models, dramatically different results. Loss → margin-eating → optimized model.

[0:00 – 0:05] HOOK

VISUAL — Three Charlotte property addresses pinned on a map. Three different investor headshots overlaid.

VO — “Three Charlotte investors. Same starting capital. Same year. Look at where they ended up.”

ON-SCREEN — INVESTOR EXECUTION ECONOMICS

[0:05 – 0:20] INVESTOR 1 — THE SOLO ACT

VISUAL — Stressed investor running between projects. Phone ringing. Contractor problems. One project nearly done, another stalled.

VO — “Number one tried to be his own GC. Found his subs. Pulled his permits. Took every contractor call. Six months in — 2 projects half-done. Profit margin: $4K each.”

ON-SCREEN — DIY GC — 2 deals · $8K total

[0:20 – 0:35] INVESTOR 2 — THE FULL GC

VISUAL — Investor at a desk with neat binders. Calm. Three projects completed cleanly. Then he reads the GC invoice. Face drops.

VO — “Number two hired a licensed GC on every project. Three closings, smooth. But the GC took the upside — fees, fees, fees. Profit margin: $6K each.”

ON-SCREEN — FULL GC — 3 deals · $18K total

[0:35 – 0:50] INVESTOR 3 — OWNER-CONTROLLED BUILD

VISUAL — Calmer investor. Multiple properties. Phone is quiet. Healthy spreadsheet on screen.

VO — “Number three used Southern Cities Owner-Controlled Build. We carry the GC license, pull permits, run execution. He stays the PM. Eight closings. Profit margin: $14K each.”

ON-SCREEN — OWNER-CONTROLLED BUILD — 8 deals · $112K total

Closing CTA

Visual: side-by-side stats — $8K · $18K · $112K. VO: “Same year. Same market. Different execution. See the Owner-Controlled Build playbook. Free.”

INVESTOR SCRIPT #3 — Stop Being Your Own GC

30 seconds · problem-aware direct · Reels-tight

Hook angle: For the scaling investor who's burned out. Names the trap (DIY vs full GC) and offers the third option.

[0:00 – 0:03] HOOK

VISUAL — Investor on phone, frustrated. Voice raised slightly off-camera. 'No, the inspection is THIS Thursday.'

VO — "If you're underwriting deals AND managing contractors AND chasing permits — you're not investing. You're working."

ON-SCREEN — FOR NC INVESTORS WHO ARE TIRED

SFX — Phone ring tone, faint argument.

[0:03 – 0:15] THE TRAP

VISUAL — Quick cuts — investor on phone, opening change orders, arguing with subs, late for closing.

VO — "Doing it yourself burns the time you should be finding deals. Hiring a full GC eats the margin. There's a third option most investors haven't seen."

ON-SCREEN — DIY = burnout. Full GC = margin gone. Hybrid = both.

[0:15 – 0:25] THE SOLUTION

VISUAL — Calm desk. Investor signing one document. SCC team handles back-and-forth on screen.

VO — "Owner-Controlled Build. We carry the GC license. Pull the permits. Run execution. You stay the owner. You make the calls. You keep the margin. We do the heavy lift."

ON-SCREEN — OWNER-CONTROLLED BUILD
